

A green and black mechanical tool, likely a punch or die, with a curved green body and a black base. The tool features a green upper section with two small circular indentations at the top and a black lower section with a rectangular slot. A black cylindrical base is attached to the bottom.

